

OVERSTORIES

2020 Winter Lecture Series

Presented by the Friends of Allen Centennial Garden

Saturdays, 9–11am

New Location @ the Pyle Center

This compelling series returns with talks showcasing UW-Madison expertise on a variety of topics, exploring hyper-local (and far out) frontiers in urban plant communities. Refreshments provided.

$15 per class

Free for Friends of ACG Members and UW Students (with ID)

BECOME A FRIENDS MEMBER

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

or visit AllenCentennialGarden.org

January 11: Gardening without Gravity

Simon Gilroy, Professor of Botany, UW-Madison

January 18: Gardens Full of Life: Inspiration and Challenges

Susan Carpenter, Senior Outreach Specialist, UW Arboretum

January 25: Our Urban Tree Canopy: Niches and Policies

Jeremy Kane, Director, Urban Tree Alliance

February 1: Cultural Significance of Nature to Indigenous Tribal Peoples

Diana Peterson, PhD candidate with the Nelson Institute for Environmental Studies

February 8: No Class

February 15: Mitigating Flood Risk through Better Gardening

Kenneth Potter, Emeritus Professor of Civil & Environmental Engineering

February 22: Envisioning a Sustainable Agricultural Future for Wisconsin

Chris Kucharik, Professor and Chair of Agronomy, UW-Madison

Claudio Gratton, Professor of Entomology, UW-Madison

ALLEN CENTENNIAL GARDEN

620 Babcock Drive, Madison, WI 53706
608.576.2501 | info@allencentennialgarden.org